

Fixed Wing Big4

Â Â Welcome to the Fixed Wing area of this site.Â I will do my best to properly represent this section of the Aerial Firefighting industry.Â As a Rotary Wing aviator, with a whopping 3.2 hours of fixed wing time I am not completely familiar with everything to do with Fixed Wing aircraft and the missions, tactics, and people involved.Â I do have a fairly good idea since us fling-wingers have a similar operational environment.Â The content within this site will be a product of my research efforts and input from people in the industry.Â If anyone has any information that would be useful here please send an email.Â I will always be looking for unique photos, statistics, and the "There I Was" stories from the people out on the lines.Â Please help me to make this THE site to go to for any information one could want about Aerial Firefighting.Â I will only be able to find so much information on my own.Â I will depend on you out there to fill in the gaps.Â Thank you and come back often to watch the site grow!
